The New P.E.

Research shows that about 10% of students are natural athletes that enjoy a physically competitive environment. The New P.E. caters to the other 90% by providing alternative, individual, and non-competitive activities such as skateboarding. School districts across the world are embracing this movement in physical education.

Testimonial

"Our principal was so impressed to observe that many of the students who had struggled with discipline problems throughout the school year were shining stars in the skateboarding class. It was great to see these students radiate success!"
